

Smith Vetoes Bill For Conventions to Nominate Justices

Walton-Fearon Measure Is Contrary to Principles of Direct Primary, Governor Says; Recalls Old Evils

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
ALBANY, May 17.—Governor Smith today vetoed the Walton-Fearon bill proposing to establish official judicial nominating conventions for candidates for Supreme Court justice. The Governor said the measure was contrary to the principles of the direct primary law.

The bill was sought by Republicans who believed it would aid them in electing up-state judges. It also was looked upon favorably by Tammany Hall, which, if the bill had been enacted, would have controlled the nomination of more than a half score of judges to be elected in New York this fall.

"In 1913, after years of bitter political wrangling," the Governor said, "the state adopted its present policy and opened wide the political parties to the control of their enrolled voters. No person has so far been able to offer any good reason why the nominations of a party should not be made by all the members of that party."

"It is needless for me at this time to dwell upon the evils that the direct primary system was intended to and did cure. The only question raised by this bill is whether we should return to a discredited and discarded system so far as nominations for justices of the Supreme Court are concerned."

"One of the briefs filed with me in favor of this bill says, 'judicial office is one which requires of the candidate a special fitness, which can best be discussed among a small number of representative persons.' With that I am obliged to disagree. The fitness of any candidate for any office, can best be discussed by all the members of the party which makes the nomination."

"It is infinitely better for the state that every candidate, particularly a candidate for a place in the judiciary, receive his nomination at the hands of a majority of the voters of his party than through the favor of the few."

Union Barbers to Visit Their Patrons at Homes

Shave or Hair Cut, They Say, Easy to Obtain With Strike On, if Rules Are Met

If you grow your whiskers in Manhattan, call Columbus 724. If they thrive in the sun and breezes of Brooklyn, ring Main 932 W.

These are instructions laid down yesterday by Leon Worthall, international organizer of the journeymen barbers, to be followed by anyone who wants a strictly union shave. All you have to do is call one of the above listed numbers and then sit around and wait and by and by a barber will appear to demonstrate that a barber's place is in the home.

Worthall also announced yesterday that 5,000 journeymen were on strike. E. P. Carey, president of the Master Barbers' Institute, said there were only 2,000. Worthall also asserts settlements had been made with about 250 independent barbers. Carey said no such thing had happened. Worthall insisted that the barber shops of the town had been closed with few exceptions. Carey admitted that the Bronx, Washington Heights and East Harlem had been untouched by the strike.

The journeymen are asking a minimum wage of $35 a week and 50 per cent of all over $45 taken in by each barber.

"The bosses have stood and will continue to stand on this ground," said Mr. Carey. "In many instances the bosses have consolidated their efforts in working together and were reported up to 3 o'clock to-day to be taking the best of care of their customers."

"The demands are exorbitant and cannot and will not be met."

Chauffeur Arraigned in McAleenan's Death

Joseph Daw, twenty-seven years old, of 1056 First Avenue, chauffeur of the taxicab in which Arthur McAleenan, champion high diver and member of the Olympic team, suffered injuries from which he died Saturday, was arraigned on a charge of homicide yesterday before Magistrate Harry Miller in the Long Island City Court. Tedford Cann and Stephen Ruddy, two other Olympic stars, also were in the machine and suffered serious injuries, when it crashed into an elevated pillar in Long Island City.

Ruddy, the first of the injured athletes to leave the hospital, testified in court he had no complaint to make against Daw's driving. He said his remembrance was that Daw was not driving fast at the time of the crash. The hearing was adjourned as the result of this testimony, the court ordering Policeman Kingston to interview Cann, who is confined to the hospital, and report to the court to-morrow morning.

Cann is said to have told his mother after regaining consciousness that he twice warned Daw not to drive so speedily. Daw's bail was continued at $10,000. His wife was in court with two of their children, one an infant in arms. Two others were at home.

Sons of Revolution Are Welcomed by Governor

Thirty-first Annual Congress of Organization Opened at Hartford, Conn.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 17.—The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution began its thirty-first annual congress here to-day. Governor Marcus H. Holcomb, in welcoming the delegates, said:

"I am glad to look into the faces of the men whose ancestry dated back to those who were not too proud to fight." He was greeted with applause.

President-General Chancellor L. Jenks responded and said that out West it was no secret that Connecticut was foremost among the states in patriotic endeavor.

Morgan G. Bulkeley, former United States Senator, added to the welcome, and James H. Preston, president of the Maryland State Society responded. Dr. G. C. F. Williams, president of the Connecticut society, also extended greetings. Hospitality would be limited only by the Eighteenth Amendment, he said. Dr. B. F. Bailey, president of the Nebraska society, responded.

Governor Indicates He'll Veto Repealer Of Daylight Saving

Protests of Farmers, Made at Hearing, Fail to Change Attitude of Executive; Charges Against Sweet

Special Cable to The Tribune

ALBANY, May 17.—Governor Smith will veto the Fowler bill, repealing the daylight saving act. The Governor, at the hearing on the measure to-day, indicated plainly that the arguments advanced by the proponents of the measure did not convince him that he should sign the bill.

One of the main arguments of those supporting the measure was that farm hands, even if they begin work at standard instead of advanced time, will want to quit their work on daylight saving time, thus shortening their working day by one hour.

"I do not think we are here to enact legislation to satisfy the whim of any particular group of workers in the state," the Governor said. "The farmers are not the only people having troubles with their employees, and they should not come here with demands for compromise legislation."

The Governor's remark followed a statement by William Cooke, an Onondaga County farmer, who declared that the question of man power is one of the greatest problems confronting the farmer.

Supporters of the measure declared that unless the bill is passed it will result in serious food shortage.

"Threats of food famine is not an argument," the Governor said. "Let us stop that talk and get down to the economic side of the question."

C. W. Burkett, editor of "The American Agriculturist," charged that the opposition to the daylight savings repeal is "backed by a great big bale of money furnished by the gasoline and amusement people." He said sentiment for daylight saving had been "manufactured by propaganda and lies."

Among those who made predictions of food famine and high prices were Herbert Myrie, editor of "Farm and Home," and John A. Bonesteel, of Cattaraugus County. The former declared that upon the work of the next three months hinges the question if the food shortage is to become still more acute. Bonesteel asserted that by August 15 milk prices will reach a new high level and that the cost of potatoes will have advanced from 25 to 33 per cent by December 25.

"Even then," he added, "it will not be a question of cost, but of how much there will be to go around." He declared daylight saving is really daylight wasting, as far as the farmer is concerned.

Those speaking in favor of the daylight saving act included J. M. O'Hanlon, of the State Federation of Labor; William Carver, of the National Daylight Saving Association; and Raymond V. Ingersoll, representing the New York City Club. Carver declared that daylight saving will be killed forever if New York State enacts the Fowler bill.

Trial of Porter Postponed Case Goes Over Because Counsel Is in U. S. Court

The second trial of Colonel Augustus Drum Porter, formerly Third Deputy Police Commissioner, scheduled to begin yesterday in General Sessions, was postponed without date by Judge Malone. The jury in Colonel Porter's first trial disagreed.

The reason for the continuance was that Martin W. Littleton, Porter's counsel, is engaged in the trial of a case in the Federal Court, which will last several days. Judge Malone ruled the case must stay at the head of the calendar and go to trial as soon as Mr. Littleton is ready.

Scores Debs Nomination Security League Head Says It Proves Socialists Still Radical

The nomination of Eugene V. Debs for President by the Socialist party is a refutation of declarations that the party has abandoned radicalism, declared Charles D. Orth, president of the National Security League, yesterday. Mr. Orth sent out a warning that the people of the country should not be misled by the apparent conservatism of the Socialist convention just closed. Mr. Orth emphasized his warning by pointing to the extreme utterances of Debs last month as printed in an interview in "The New York Call."

Dowager Queen's Cold Causes Anxiety on Account of Age

LONDON, May 17.—The condition of Dowager Queen Alexandra, who is suffering from a bronchial cold, is causing anxiety, says "The Star" to-day. The newspaper cites the fact that Alexandra is now seventy-five years old and declares such a cold must be considered a serious matter to a person of her age.

Japanese Ruling Party Wins TOKIO, May 13 (By The Associated Press).—Returns from the elections for Parliament show that the government party, the Seiyu-Kai, won 55 seats; the Kensei-Kai, or Opposition, 119 seats; the Kokumin-To, or Nationalists, 29, and the Independents, 39. Twelve seats have not yet been decided. The government will have a substantial majority in the House.

Escapes Chair by Three Hours
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 17.—And his trousers leg slit for the application of the electrode when, three hours before the time set for his electrocution, his application for a new trial was granted. He pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree to-day, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. He killed Raffaele Cammerota at Westfield in January.
